

PSHE (Personal, Social, Health Education) Policy

(Including statutory Relationships, Sex and Health Education)

September 2021

Ratified by the Governing Body: 24th June 2021

Signed by the Governing Body: Sue O'Connor

To be reviewed: September 2022

Context

All schools must provide a curriculum that is broadly based, balanced and meets the needs of all pupils. Under section 78 of the Education Act 2002 and the Academies Act 2010, a PSHE curriculum:

- Promotes the spiritual, moral, cultural, mental and physical development of pupils at the school and of society, and
- Prepares pupils at the school for the opportunities, responsibilities and experiences of later life.

Our PSHE policy is developed in line with the requirements set out in the National Curriculum and statutory requirements from the Department for Education. This policy will be reviewed annually and approved by the governing body. It is subject to consultation with parents (see Appendix A) and reflects the views of staff and pupils.

This policy links with existing DfE guidance and the school policies outlined below:

- Keeping Children Safe in Education
- The Equality Act 2010
- SEND code of practice: 0 to 25 years
- Promoting Fundamental British Values as part of SMSC in schools
- SMSC requirements for independent schools
- The Prevent Duty
- Gossey Lane Academy Safeguarding and Child Protection Policy
- Gossey Lane Academy Behaviour Policy
- WHMAT E-safety Policy

PSHE

The Gossey Lane curriculum is designed so that our pupils are globally aware citizens who take advantage of experiences for learning, show responsibility and demonstrate the school values to support themselves throughout their lives.

The aims of our PSHE curriculum is to perfectly connect the pieces of Personal, Social and Health Education, including emotional literacy and social skills.

Through this learning, it is our intention to prepare children for life outside school, helping them to understand and value who they truly are and to know how they relate to other people in our ever-changing world. As a school, we believe that children are all individuals and we therefore aim to encourage mutual respect and foster self-esteem in a happy and caring atmosphere. Through the PSHE curriculum, our children acquire knowledge, understanding and the skills they need to manage their lives. Our lessons cover the diverse beliefs, values and attitudes that individuals and societies hold. They help pupils to develop themselves, their understanding of the world, and their ability to communicate their feelings. Through PSHE, children develop the qualities and attributes children need to thrive as individuals, family members, members of society and the global community.

We use the Jigsaw PSHE scheme to help us achieve this. It offers a comprehensive, carefully thought-through scheme of work which brings consistency and progression to our children's learning in this curriculum area. Jigsaw supports all requirements for the delivery of British Values,

Spiritual, Moral, Social and Cultural (SMSC) development and the Prevent Strategy. Each of these areas have been mapped throughout the scheme to ensure full coverage. Jigsaw also incorporates the statutory content as set out by the Department for Education's 'Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education (RSE) and Health Education' guidance.

At Gossey Lane Academy we promote respect for all and value every individual child. We also respect the right of our children, their families and our staff, to hold beliefs, religious or otherwise, and understand that sometimes these may be in tension with our approach to some aspects of Relationships, Health and Sex Education. We encourage any parents who have concerns regarding our PSHE curriculum to talk to their child's class teacher in the first instance.

An overview of our PSHE programme is included in the appendices (Appendix B) and on our school website.

Statutory Relationships and Health Education

The Department for Education (DfE) introduced 'The Relationships Education, Relationships and Sex Education and Health Education (England) Regulations 2019', making it compulsory for all primary schools to deliver Relationships and Health Education to their pupils.

We include the statutory Relationships and Health Education within our whole-school PSHE Programme. To ensure progression and a spiral curriculum, we use Jigsaw to facilitate our teaching in this area and tailor it to your children's needs.

The mapping document (Appendix C) demonstrates the requirements for teaching Relationships and Health Education and how this is taught through the units of work in our programme of study.

How do we teach PSHE?

At Gossey Lane, PSHE is taught through dedicated weekly lessons that are led by teachers and teaching assistants. There are 6 half-termly units of work designed to ensure the whole school can study the same learning theme at the same time. They are carefully planned and resourced so that each year group works at its own level receiving the knowledge and skills required in a developmental and age-appropriate way. Examples of the children's learning and discussion is evidenced in the class PSHE book.

Term	Unit	Content
Autumn 1:	Being Me in My World	Includes understanding my own identity and how I fit well in the class, school and global community. Jigsaw Charter established.
Autumn 2:	Celebrating Difference	Includes anti-bullying (cyber and homophobic bullying included) and understanding
Spring 1:	Dreams and Goals	Includes goal-setting, aspirations, who do I want to become and what would I like to do for work and to contribute to society

Spring 2:	Healthy Me	Includes drugs and alcohol education, self-esteem and confidence as well as healthy lifestyle choices, sleep, nutrition, rest and exercise
Summer 1:	Relationships	Includes understanding friendship, family and other relationships, conflict resolution and communication skills, bereavement and loss
Summer 2:	Changing Me	Includes Relationships and Sex Education in the context of coping positively with change

Assessment, Monitoring and Evaluation

All pupils will be assessed at the end of each PSHE unit using the statements ‘Working Toward Age Related Expectations’, ‘At Age Related Expectations’ and ‘Exceeding Age Related Expectations’. Our PSHE programme provides grade descriptors for each unit which will assist staff in making their assessments. Pupils’ social skills, emotional-wellbeing and behaviour are also frequently informally assessed by staff based on their daily behaviour and interactions with others. Children who are identified as struggling within these areas are supported through intervention programmes delivered by TAs such as Talkboost or through mentoring programmes delivered by the schools Learning Mentor.

The Senior Leadership Team and PSHE Lead monitor and evaluate PSHE provision on a termly basis. This includes book monitoring and lesson visits to ensure that all sessions are delivered effectively and offer high quality provision to all. Further monitoring and evaluations, may also take place through governance visits, external reviews and OFSTED.

Teaching Sensitive Issues

Teachers are well prepared to handle personal issues arising from PSHE lessons. They will deal sensitively with disclosures made within a group or individual setting, in line with the schools Safeguarding Policy.

Issues addressed in PSHE lessons may be sensitive or controversial because they may have a political, social or personal impact or deal with values and beliefs including: family lifestyles and values, physical and medical issues, financial issues, bullying and bereavement.

At Gossey Lane, we know that families of many forms provide a nurturing environment for our children and this is something that is celebrated throughout our PSHE programme. For example, families can include; single parent families, LGBT parents, families headed by grandparents, adoptive parents and foster parents – this list is not exhaustive! Our teachers take great care to ensure that no pupil is made to feel different due to their home circumstances. We aim to create a safe, comfortable and inclusive environment for pupils to take part in open discussions about a range of topics. All of our pupils have the ‘Right to Pass’ when taking part in discussions, we would not expect or force children to share details about their own life experiences or circumstances.

Where political or controversial issues are brought to pupils’ attention, teachers will ensure balanced views are presented. Pupils will be taught how to recognise bias and evaluate evidence. Teachers will also ensure pupils feel confident to express reasonable points of view that contradict others (either their class teachers or their peers) in a safe classroom environment.

The Equalities Act

In September 2020, Ofsted published guidance for schools on teaching the protected characteristics from within the Equalities Act. Under the Equalities Act, it is illegal for anyone to discriminate against another person because of the protected characteristics below:

- Age
- being or becoming a transsexual person
- being married or in a civil partnership
- being pregnant or on maternity leave
- Disability
- Race including colour, nationality, ethnic or national origin
- religion, belief or lack of religion/belief
- Sex
- sexual orientation

At Gossey Lane, we believe it is important that all children have an understanding of the world they are growing up in, having learned how to live alongside, and show respect for, a diverse range of people. This is equally supported through the Ofsted Inspection Framework which explains that pupils' understanding of the protected characteristics and how equality and diversity are promoted form part of the evidence that inspectors use to evaluate the school's personal development of pupils.

Our PSHE curriculum is planned and delivered so that children develop age-appropriate knowledge and understanding during their time at the school. Teaching about the protected characteristics is integrated appropriately into our PSHE curriculum, rather than addressed separately or in one-off lessons.

In terms of content, the unit 'Celebrating Difference' teaches about the protected characteristics, as it focuses on similarities and differences and teaches about diversity, such as disability, racism, gender, family composition, friendships, and conflict. Children learn to accept everyone's right to 'difference', and most year groups explore the concept of 'normal'. Bullying – what it is and what it isn't, including cyber and homophobic bullying – is an important aspect of this unit.

The 'Relationships' unit also has a wide focus, looking at diverse topics such as families, friendships, equality in relationships, and love and loss – all of which help to deliver the vital messages behind the Equality Act. A key part of this unit is about safeguarding and keeping children safe; this links to cyber safety and social networking, as well as attraction and assertiveness; children learn how to deal with conflict, their own strengths and self-esteem. They have the chance to explore roles and responsibilities in families and look at stereotypes.

Relationships Education

What does the DfE statutory guidance on Relationships Education expect children to know by the time they leave primary school?

Relationships Education in primary schools will cover:

- Families and people who care for me
- Caring friendships

- Respectful relationships
- Online relationships
- Being safe

It is important to explain that whilst the Relationships unit of work, covers most of the statutory Relationships Education, some of the outcomes are also taught elsewhere in the PSHE Programme. For examples, the Celebrating Difference unit helps children appreciate that there are many types of family composition and that each is important to the children involved. This holistic approach ensures the learning is reinforced through the year and across the curriculum.

Health Education

What does the DfE statutory guidance on Health Education expect children to know by the time they leave primary school?

Health Education in primary schools will cover:

- Mental wellbeing
- Internet safety and harms
- Physical health and fitness
- Healthy eating
- Drugs, alcohol and tobacco
- Health and prevention
- Basic First Aid
- Changing adolescent body

Teaching children about puberty is now a statutory requirement which sits within the Health Education part of the DfE guidance. As our curriculum is progressive, scientific terminology for the body is introduced in Year 1. The body and puberty is taught through the Changing Me unit of work. We will invite parents into school to view the materials used for teaching about the body and puberty prior to the lessons being delivered. This is to ensure that parents have clarity around the information that will be shared with their children. This element of PSHE for pupils is compulsory.

Sex Education

At Gossey Lane Academy, we deliver Sex Education to our pupils. We believe that it is a vital safeguarding measure and ensures pupils receive accurate information in an age-appropriate way.

This is in accordance with the DfE Guidance 2019 (p.23), which recommends that all primary schools 'have a sex education programme tailored to the age and the physical and emotional maturity of the pupils'. Our pupils will be taught the facts about human reproduction, using scientific vocabulary. This is included in the Changing Me unit of work, through the following lessons:

- Year 4, Lesson 2 (Having a baby)
- Year 5, Lesson 4 (Conception)
- Year 6, Lesson 4 (Conception, birth)

Sex education lessons are taught following on from the sequence of statutory lessons about the body and puberty. However, parents have the right to request that their child be withdrawn from some or all of the Sex Education lessons – these are outlined above.

School will notify parents by letter before teaching the Changing Me unit of work. A date is set for the parents of each year group to come into school and view the materials relating to the body, puberty and sex education. It is strongly encouraged that all parents view the materials for the lessons and ask any questions they may have. At this point, any parent who wishes to remove their child from the Sex Education lessons must put this in writing to inform the school. Parents are not able to remove their child from lessons about the body and/or puberty as this is a compulsory part of Health Education.

Appendix A – Consultation Responses

Gossey Lane Academy carried out a two week consultation with parents regarding the changes to the P.S.H.E (Including RSHE) policy. There were two responses to the consultation as outlined below:

Have you read all of the information on the PSHE webpage, including the draft PSHE and RSHE policy?

Yes – 2

No – 0

Is the information on the PSHE webpage clear and easy to understand?

Appendix C – Relationship and Health Education Overview

Relationships Education in Primary schools – DfE Guidance 2019

The focus in primary school should be on teaching the fundamental building blocks and characteristics of positive relationships, with particular reference to friendships, family relationships, and relationships with other children and with adults.

The guidance states that, by the end of primary school:

	Pupils should know...	How Jigsaw provides the solution
Families and people who care for me	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• R1 that families are important for children growing up because they can give love, security and stability.</li> <li>• R2 the characteristics of healthy family life, commitment to each other, including in times of difficulty, protection and care for children and other family members, the importance of spending time together and sharing each other's lives.</li> <li>• R3 that others' families, either in school or in the wider world, sometimes look different from their family, but that they should respect those differences and know that other children's families are also characterised by love and care.</li> <li>• R4 that stable, caring relationships, which may be of different types, are at the heart of happy families, and are important for children's security as they grow up.</li> <li>• R5 that marriage represents a formal and legally recognised commitment of two people to each other which is intended to be lifelong (Marriage in England and Wales is available to both opposite sex and same sex couples. The Marriage (Same Sex Couples) Act 2013 extended marriage to same sex couples in England and Wales. The ceremony through which a couple get married may be civil or religious).</li> <li>• R6 how to recognise if family relationships are making them feel unhappy or unsafe, and how to seek help or advice from others if needed</li> </ul>	All of these aspects are covered in lessons within the Puzzles <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Relationships</li> <li>• Changing Me</li> <li>• Celebrating Difference</li> <li>• Being Me in My World</li> </ul>
Caring friendships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• R7 how important friendships are in making us feel happy and secure, and how people choose and make friends</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• R8 the characteristics of friendships, including mutual respect, truthfulness, trustworthiness, loyalty, kindness, generosity, trust, sharing interests and experiences and support with problems and difficulties</li> <li>• R9 that healthy friendships are positive and welcoming towards others and do not make others feel lonely or excluded</li> <li>• R10 that most friendships have ups and downs, and that these can often be worked through so that the friendship is repaired or even strengthened, and that resorting to violence is never right</li> <li>• R11 how to recognise who to trust and who not to trust, how to judge when a friendship is making them feel unhappy or uncomfortable, managing conflict, how to manage these situations and how to seek help and advice from others, if needed</li> </ul>
Respectful relationships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• R12 the importance of respecting others, even when they are very different from them (for example, physically, in character, personality or backgrounds), or make different choices or have different preferences or beliefs</li> <li>• R13 practical steps they can take in a range of different contexts to improve or support respectful relationships</li> <li>• R14 the conventions of courtesy and manners</li> <li>• R15 the importance of self-respect and how this links to their own happiness</li> <li>• R16 that in school and in wider society they can expect to be treated with respect by others, and that in turn they should show due respect to others, including those in positions of authority</li> <li>• R17 about different types of bullying (including cyberbullying), the impact of bullying, responsibilities of bystanders (primarily reporting bullying to an adult) and how to get help</li> <li>• R18 what a stereotype is, and how stereotypes can be unfair, negative or destructive</li> <li>• R19 the importance of permission-seeking and giving in relationships with friends, peers and adults</li> </ul>
Online relationships	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• R20 that people sometimes behave differently online, including by pretending to be someone they are not.</li> </ul>	All of these aspects are covered in lessons within the Puzzles

Physical health and mental well-being education in Primary schools – DfE Guidance

The focus in primary school should be on teaching the characteristics of good physical health and mental wellbeing. Teachers should be clear that mental well-being is a normal part of daily life, in the same way as physical health.

By the end of primary school:
